

CHIARA BISIO

Chiara Bisio was born in Italy (Voghera, PV) on 01.08.1975. She graduated with top mark (110/110 magna cum laude) at the University of "Eastern Piedmont". On July 2005 she obtained the PhD in Chemistry at the University of Turin (Italy) and the degree of Doctor of the University "Pierre et Marie Curie" (France), with Prof. S. Coluccia and Dr. P. Massiani as supervisors. From November 2004 to November 2008 C. Bisio was Post-doc at the University of Eastern Piedmont. From December 2008, she is researcher at the same University. From September 2009 she is associated researcher at CNR-ISTM centre of Milan.

C. Bisio was young researcher in the following projects of the Italian MIUR: a) FIRB 2001 project titled "Basic and Functional aspects of Nanostructured Inorganic-Organic Hybrid Polymeric Materials" (2003-2007), national coordinator Prof. G. Camino); b) FISR 2002 project concening "title: "Matrici di Microcombustori ad Idrogeno" (2004-2008), national coordinator Dr. P. Perlo, Centro Ricerche Fiat; c) Project of "Internazionalizzazione" titled "Sviluppo di materiali innovativi micro e mesoporosi: materiali inorganici lamellari e porosi per la catalisi e per nanocomposti polimerici" (2005-2008) with the University of Campinas (Brazil).

C. Bisio was researcher in the STREP project of the VI FP titled: "Novel Inorganic Nanostructured Materials and Devices with Enhanced Photoemission Activity and Thermal Stability" (2005-2008), involving Fiat Research Centre.

She also was researcher and assistant scientific manager for the following projects: 1) PRIN of the Italian MIUR titled "Progettazione e sintesi di Silsesquiosani Poliedrici Multifunzionali per Compositi Polimerici Innovativi Termicamente Stabili"(2007-2009); 2) Regional Project DOCUP "Nanotecnologie applicate ai rivestimenti innovativi (funzionali e decorativi) e ai materiali compositi polimerici e magnetici", 3) Regional Project (CIPE) titled "Novel Nanostructured Materials for Light Emitting Devices and Application to Automotive Displays" (2007-2010).

Chiara Bisio is author of 21 original publications on international scientific journals.
